

Miller Fellow: Daniel Warner

Faculty Sponsor: Professor Katerina Linos

Project: Borderlines Podcast, European Union Court of Justice Profiles

Daniel Warner is a second year law student at the University of California, Berkeley. Daniel currently serves as an Articles Editor for the Berkeley Technology Law Journal and previously served as a Notes and Comments Editor. Daniel is also a co-leader of the Homelessness Services Project, which works with a variety of local, community-based organizations to provide general legal services for the unhoused population of the San Francisco Bay Area.

Prior to law school, Daniel worked as a legal assistant at General Atomics on a wide range of matters such as the establishment of legal entities in foreign countries and investigations relating to issues of government compliance. This past summer, Daniel served as an intern at the U.S. Department of Defense in Washington, DC. In his free time, Daniel enjoys watching Michigan Football (his alma mater), Los Angeles Kings Hockey, hiking the Berkeley Hills and trying new donut shops.

As a Miller Fellow, Daniel is assisting Professor Katerina Linos with researching and editing episodes of the ground-breaking Borderlines CJEU podcast series featuring interviews with the Judges and Advocates General of the European Union Court of Justice.
